

Word	Part of Speech	Definition	Example Sentence	Synonym news	noun	Information about recent events or important updates	The evening news reported on the storm.	report real	adjective	Something true, genuine, or existing in fact	The story was based on a real event.	genuine fake	adjective/noun	Not real; made to trick others	She bought a fake watch from the market.	false misinformation	noun	Wrong or false information spread without careful checking	The article spread misinformation about health.	false info true	adjective	Correct, honest, or based on facts	It is true that exercise helps you stay healthy.	factual source	noun	Where information or material comes from	Always check the source of the news before believing it.	origin manipulate	verb	To control or influence someone/something unfairly or secretly	The ad tried to manipulate people into buying the product.	control lie	noun/verb	(n.) A false statement; (v.) To say something untrue	He told a lie about finishing his homework.	falsehood trust	noun/verb	Belief that someone or something is reliable	Children trust their parents for safety.	faith credibility	noun	The quality of being believable or trustworthy	The scientist's credibility made his research respected.	reliability