

Questions – Page 85

1. Who noticed that something was troubling the narrator?
2. What did the narrator's mother say when she noticed her daughter was upset?
3. How did the narrator feel when she saw the pain in her mother's eyes?
4. What suggestion did the mother make to help the narrator learn English?
5. Why did the narrator find her mother's confidence and determination admirable?
6. What physical feature of the mother distinguished her from other mothers at the school?
7. What does the word "aura" mean in the context of the mother's appearance?
8. What new routine did the mother and daughter start together?
9. Why did the narrator admire her mother even more after learning about her sacrifices?
10. What does the word "confidence" mean as it relates to the mother in the story?